English – Lesson 1 - Challenge

Mrs Twit Gets a Stretching

Mr Twit led Mrs Twit outdoors where he had everything ready for the great stretching. He had one hundred balloons and lots of string. He had a glass cylinder for filling balloons. He had fixed an iron ring to the ground. "Stand here," he said, pointing to the iron ring. When that was done, he began filling the balloons with gas. Each balloon was on a long string and when it was filled with gas it pulled on its string, trying to go up and up. Mr Twit tied the ends of the strings to the top half of Mrs Twit's body. Some he tied round her neck, some he tied under her arms, some to her wrists and some even to her hair. Soon there were fifty coloured balloons floating in the air above Mrs Twit's head. "Can you feel them stretching you?" asked Mr Twit.

"I can! I can!" cried Mrs Twit. "They're stretching me like mad".

He put on another ten balloons. The upward pull became very strong. Mrs Twit was quite helpless now. With her feet tied to the ground and her arms pulled upwards by the balloons, she was unable to move. She was a prisoner, and Mr Twit had intended to go away and leave her when Mrs Twit opened her big mouth and said something silly.

"Are you sure my feet are tied properly to the ground?" she gasped. "If those strings around my ankles break, it'll be goodbye for me!"

And that's what gave Mr Twit his second nasty idea.

1) Why do you think Mr Twit needed to attach so many balloons to Mrs Twit?

2) Which of Mrs Twit's body parts does Mr Twit tie the balloons to?

3) Why does Roald Dahl write that Mrs Twit was 'like a prisoner'?

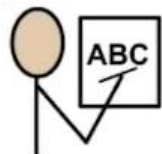

4) Why do you think Mr Twit and Mr Twit are so nasty to each other?

5) Why do you think the author used the word 'gasped' instead of 'said' when Mrs Twit asks if her feet are tied to the ground properly?

Mrs Twit Goes Ballooning Up

"There's enough pull here to take me to the moon!" Mrs Twit cried out.

"To take you to the moon!" exclaimed Mr Twit. "What a ghastly thought! We wouldn't want anything like that to happen, oh dear me no!"

"We most certainly wouldn't!" cried Mrs Twit. "Put some more string around my ankles quickly! I want to feel absolutely safe!"

"Very well, my angel," said Mr Twit, and with a ghoulish grin on his lips he knelt down at her feet. He took a knife from his pocket and with one quick slash he cut through the string holding Mrs Twit's ankles to the iron ring. She went up like a rocket.

"Help!" she screamed. "Save me!"

But there was no saving her now. In a few seconds she was high up in the blue sky and climbing fast.

Mr Twit stood below looking up. "What a pretty sight!" he said to himself. "How lovely all those balloons look in the sky! And what a marvellous bit of luck for me! At last the old hag is lost and gone forever."

Mrs Twit may have been ugly and she may have been beastly, but she was not stupid. High up there in the sky, she had a bright idea. "If I can get rid of some of these balloons, I will stop going up and start to come down," she said to herself. She began biting through the strings that held the balloons to her wrists and arms and neck and hair. Each time she bit through a string and let the balloon float away, the upward pull got less and her rate of climb slowed down. When she had bitten through twenty strings, she stopped going up altogether. She stayed still in the air. She bit through one more string. Very, very slowly, she began to float downwards.

Challenge

1. How do you think Mrs Twit felt when she went into the sky?
2. Why did Mrs Twit have to slowly bite through the balloon strings?
3. What do you think Mr Twit is like as a person?
4. How do you think Mr Twit feels when he sees his plan is working?

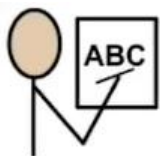

English – Lesson 2 – Answers

These are to be used as example answers as with inference-style questions, there can be slightly different viewpoints.

- 1) I think that Mrs Twit would be feeling scared, shocked and angry when she realised that she was floating up in the air because she has no control over her body anymore.
- 2) Mrs Twit had to act very slowly because if she suddenly uncut all of the strings at the same time then this would cause her to quickly fall to the ground and she could cause herself an injury.
- 3) I believe that Mr Twit is a very competitive person because he keeps on playing tricks on Mrs Twit. I also think that he is very selfish, mean and vindictive person.
- 4) I think Mr Twit is feeling thrilled when he realises that his plan is working because he thinks that he has finally got rid of his wife.
